

Purple Sage Pottery by Iris Minc

Retail Price List for Standard Production Items – Fall 2010

Items are available in the following glazes: Sea Foam, a shiny watery light blue (rutile blue) with overtones of turquoise, lavender, and white. Dark Ash Blue, a semi-matte cobalt blue with pale blue gray accents; Sea Foam is always used on the insides of these pots. Plum Purple, a shiny highly variable glaze with rich tones of lilac, deep delphinium blue, burgundy and mauve. Mamo, a matte dappled cream; generally used with Sea Foam as the inside glaze. Oribe, a shiny slightly speckled, spruce green used on rims and interiors; usually in combination with Egg Shell, a dappled matte gray with lavender overtones on the outsides of pots. Tenmoku, a rich shiny brownish black that breaks a persimmon brown on edges and high points; generally decorated with stylized fish and spiral patterns in warm gold accents. Ohata Kaki, a glossy warm persimmon brown, often with a matt black glaze on rims. Crackle Celadon, a shiny, soft and elegant, pale grayish blue green on white stoneware.

Variations in the glaze colors should be expected. Sizes and shapes of wheel thrown pots may vary slightly. Trays that are available with "various embossed patterns" may be patterned with dragonflies, fish, turtles, leaves, or geometric designs. Each is individually decorated, and no two are exactly alike.
